Guidelines for accessing University Scholarships for Women to study Engineering

Scholarships to encourage female students to undertake Engineering are available in most Australian Universities and Tafes. As women continue to be under-represented in engineering education in Australia these scholarships are aimed at attracting and retaining Women in Engineering.

The value, tenure and eligibility vary from university to university. Below is a sample list of scholarships that are available.

Please note that on occasions the website may not be up to date. We therefore recommend you contact the Engineering departments or schools directly and request information on Women in Engineering Scholarships.
