This compilation represents a historical record of Australasian coastal, ocean and port engineering conferences over recent decades and should provide a very valuable resource for practitioners, researchers and students. The first Coastal & Ocean conference was held in Sydney in 1973 and has been held bi-annually since, reflecting the important position this field of engineering had achieved in the development and protection of some of Australia's most valuable resources.

This complete collection of past proceedings of Australasian Coastal and Ocean Engineering, Australasian Port and Harbour and Coasts and Ports conferences, has been published on DVD, it is searchable by conference year, title keywords and author surnames.
